Etiquette Corner

Non-verbal

There are many ways we demonstrate etiquette non-verbally. Using two hands for example shows added respect and a sign of trust. Standing up as your teacher enters a room show mental awareness and signals you are ready and eager to learn. Offering to take over a task for a senior classmate or instructor such as cleaning, retrieving a training item, putting weapons away after training shows you are grateful for the wisdom & guidance you have received. The small things add up noticeably.
