Skill vs Ability

Martial art is one of the few activities that can truly be practiced for a lifetime. Kuk Sa Nim says "long life and young body" should be one of our primary goals. Inevitably, we will get older and our physical abilities will change. A 20 year old first degree may have a better "looking" form, kicks, or other physical abilities than a 60 year old 4th degree; however, the skill of the two practitioners are likely worlds apart. Ability does not necessarily infer skill or wisdom. Plus, just because you don't see it demonstrated regularly, doesn't mean it's not there. Respect your senior ranks and look for opportunities to learn from their experiences. Their true abilities will likely surprise you.
